

Dydd Gŵyl Dewi 2024
St David's Day 2024

Random acts of Welshness.

#PethauBychain
#RandomActsofWelshness

Dydd Gŵyl Dewi 2024
St David's Day 2024

St David's Day: 01 March.

The day we celebrate our patron saint and all things Welsh.

The day we remember his famous guiding words:

gwnewch y pethau bychain —
do the little things.

What better way to celebrate this day than to bring those words to life with an outpouring of hwyl and kindness? Just as Dewi would have wanted...

Dydd Gŵyl Dewi 2024
St David's Day 2024

Introducing... Random acts of Welshness

A hwyl-filled social media celebration of our nation, that showcases the good things we do – for each other, for our communities and for our world.

Join us this St David's Day by doing your own little act of Welshness, and sharing it on social media.

What makes an act of Welshness?

- It's a little thing that's easy to do
- It celebrates our people or traditions
- And, above all else, it makes someone's day, or the world, just that little bit better

We'll be showcasing dozens of these acts in the run up to 01 March to inspire people.

Some random acts to get you inspired...

Fly the Draig Goch

Other countries have to make do with stripes, but we've got a dragon on our flag! And when you've got something that cool, you wave it with pride, wherever you are.

Give someone a spoon

No, seriously, this is the ultimate sign of cariad (love) in Wales. We've been carefully carving our love spoons for centuries — each one with a unique message.

Give a cwtsh

Like a cuddle, but so much better. Pronounced 'kutch', to rhyme with 'butch', a cwtsh means so much to us Welsh.

Don your Welsh hat

Wear a het Gymreig — our traditional Welsh hat — with style.

Check out the full list at Wales.com/RandomActs

Some random acts to get you inspired...

walesdotcom

Listen to some miwsig

Centuries-old folk tunes, epic anthems, inspirational electronica, choirs, rockers, big beats and bigger voices – there's a Welsh tune for every mood and every one.

walesdotcom

Enjoy a feast

"Feed me 'til I want no more!". Cook someone a gwledd (a feast) of some amazing Welsh food and drink.

walesdotcom

Dydd Gŵyl Dewi Hapus

Wish someone a Happy St David's Day. Here's a handy pronunciation guide if English is your native language: Deethe goo-eel Dew-ee happ-iss.

walesdotcom

Play Tippet

Get together with five friends, a coin, and a table for this centuries old pub game. Americans may know it as Up Jenkins – a common surname in Wales.

Check out the full list at Wales.com/RandomActs

Some random acts to get you inspired...

Say it with flowers

Daffodils ideally. We love giving them to people on our national day.

Dress up your dog

Or give your moggy a makeover. After all, why should people have all the fun on St David's Day?

Share Welsh Cakes

Bake some picau ar y maen (which translates as 'cakes on the stone', as they were originally cooked on a heated bakestone) to share with friends, family or colleagues.

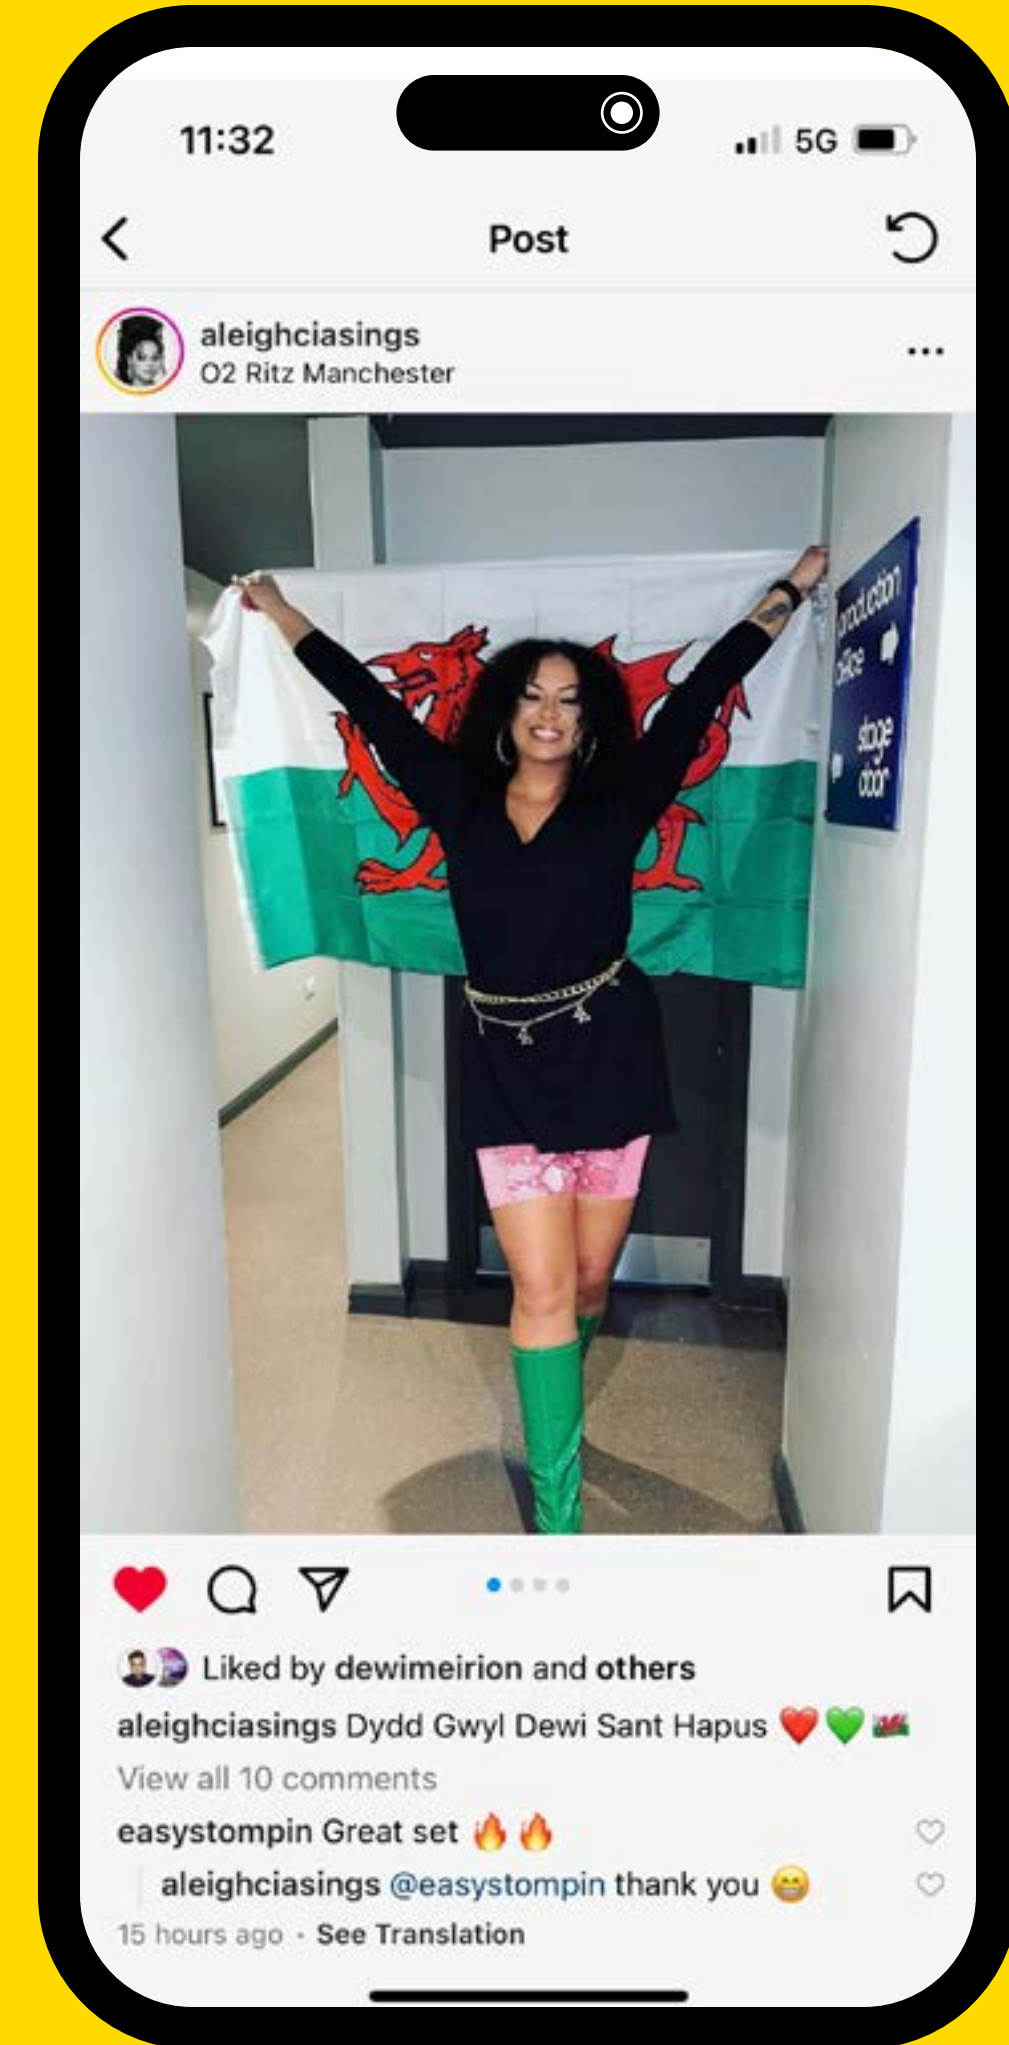

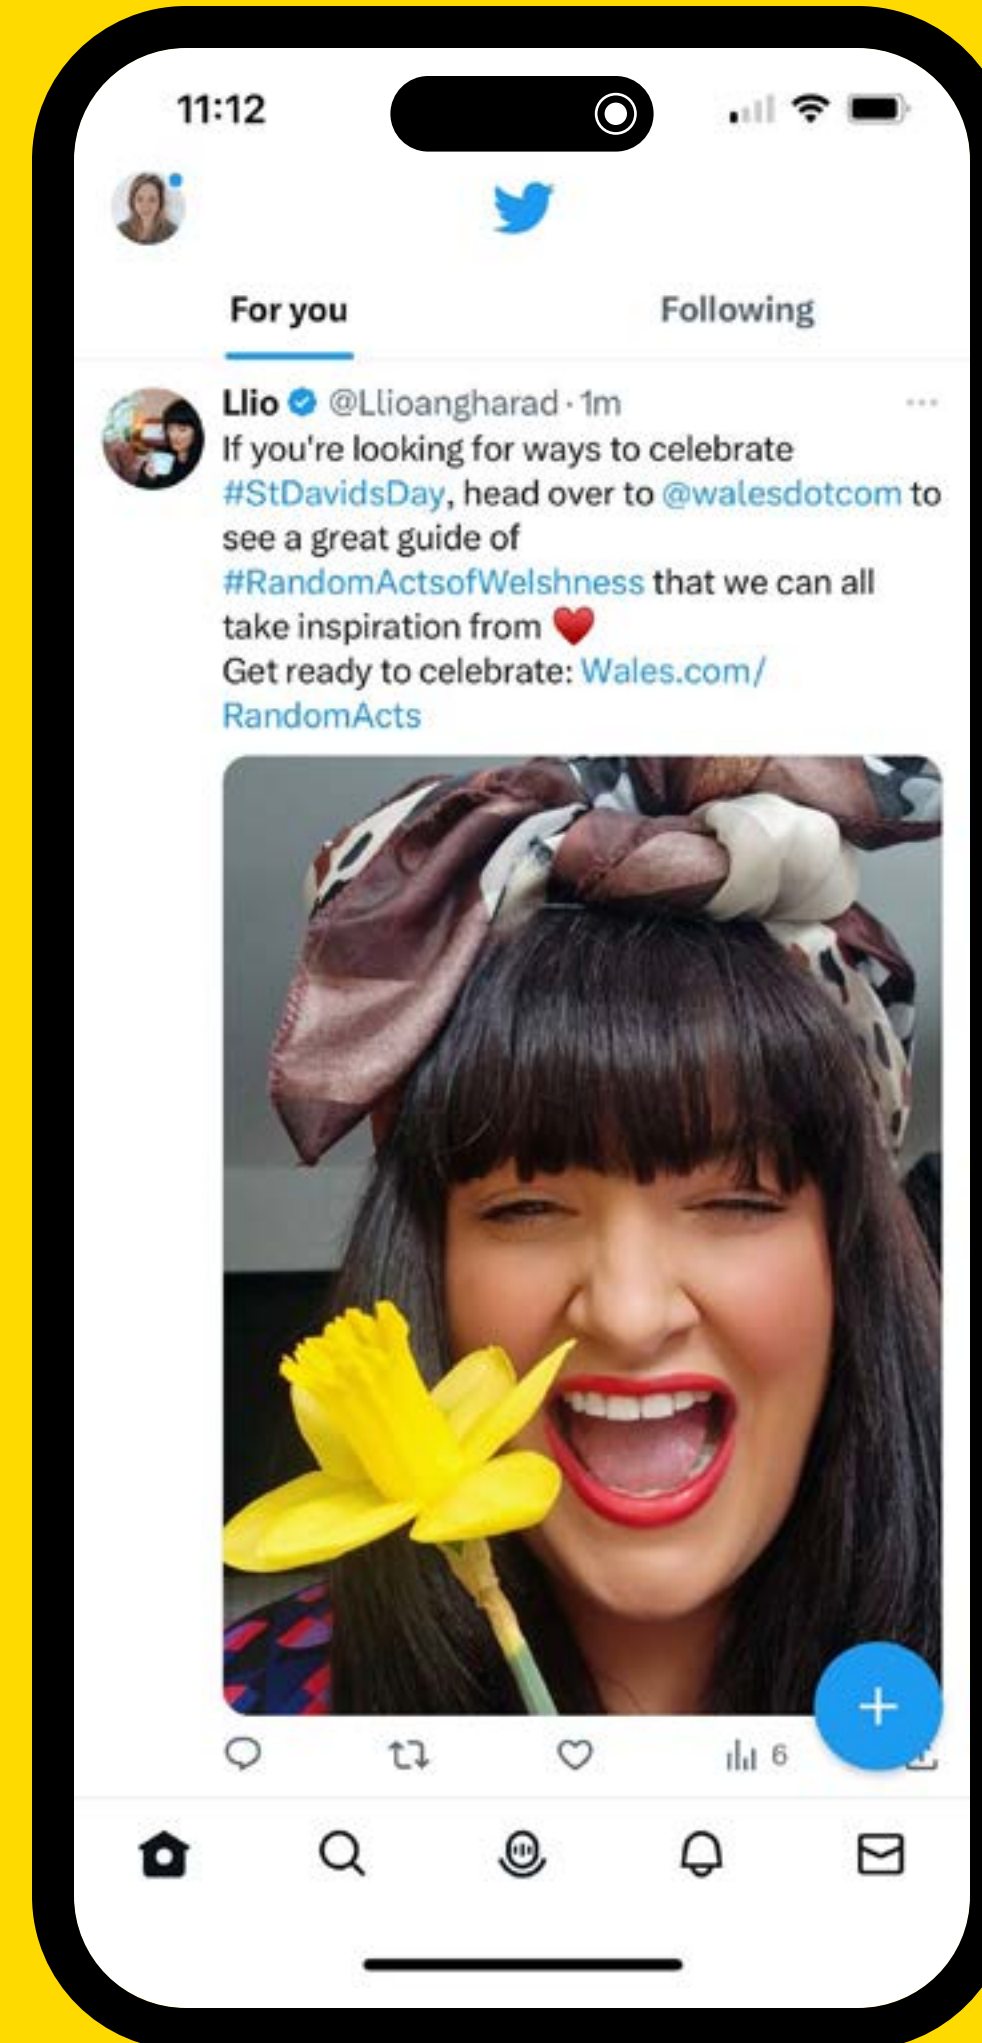

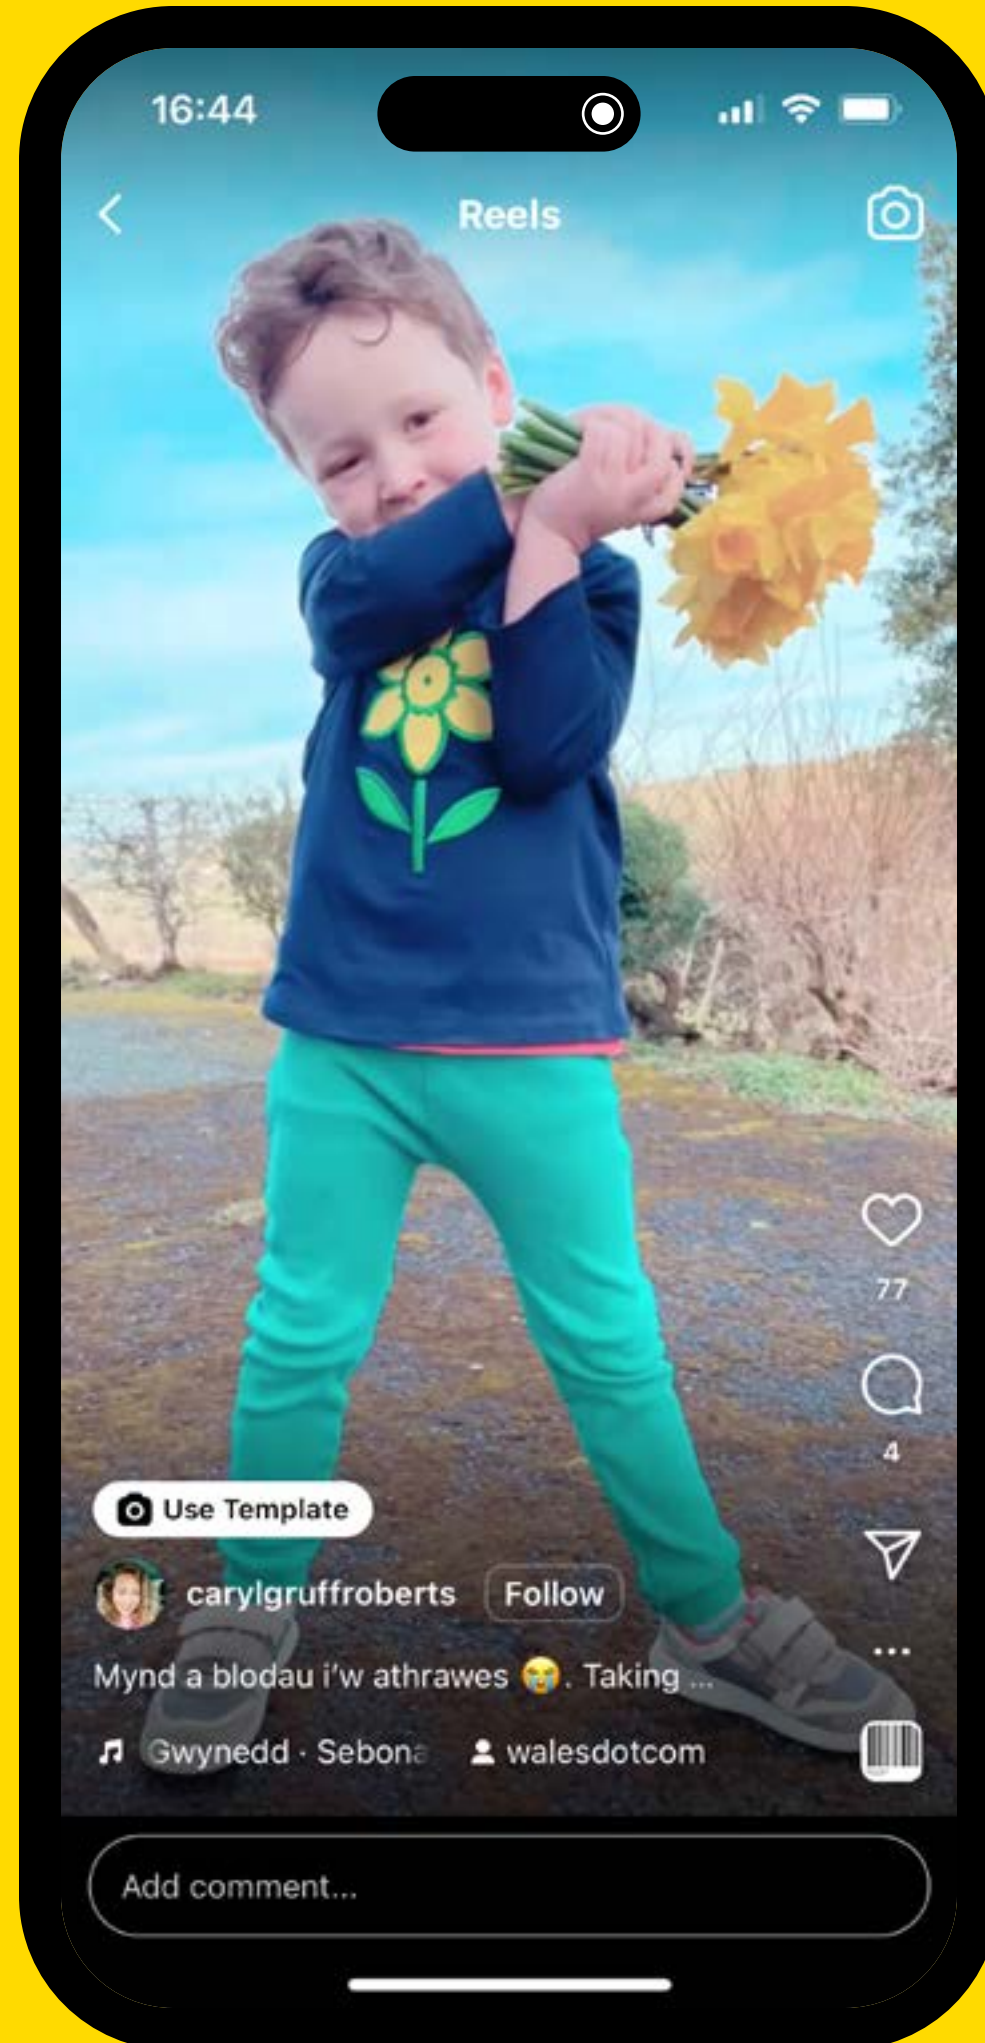

Gwlad, Gwlad!

Sing it solo, belt it out with friends or blast it on a random instrument. Extra points for learning the second and third verse!

Check out the full list at Wales.com/RandomActs

Examples of your Random Acts of Welshness

Help us turn the world Welsh this St David's Day.

Before the big day

1. Get ready

Choose your random act. Film or photograph it ready for the big day. If you've got an amazing act planned, drop us an email – lowri.jones37@gov.wales

2. Spread the word

Share this with friends, colleagues, partner organisations and invite them to get involved.

And remember to share far and wide with friends of Wales around the world.

3. Share on social

Keep an eye out for our campaign content across our Instagram, Facebook and TikTok channels by following @WalesDotCom — and give us a like and share.

On 01 March

4. Get posting

Post your random act on 01 March using #RandomActsOfWelshness and #PethauBychain.

If you're feeling particularly Welsh, you don't need to limit yourself to one act!

Dydd Gŵyl Dewi 2024
St David's Day 2024

Diolch.

#PethauBychain
#RandomActsofWelshness

